STOCKS OFFER RESISTANCE TO FAIRLY ACTIVE SELLING PRESSURE.

DECLINES ARE MODERATE.

Trends of the stock market position were carried further yesterday with the result that quoted values made an encouraging display of stability under selling pressure and speculative agitation of adverse considerations.

Quite a little selling activity was induced, pressure for the most part being an obvious continuation of the professional efforts of the week to establish a materially lower price level.

The weekly bank statement showed a liquidation of some of the outstanding reserves, with a decrease exceeding $9,500,000 in the loan account.

THE GRAIN MARKETS.

Wheat irregular—Beneficial Rates Fall—Corn Steadier.

During the major part of yesterday's short wheat session, the list was under pressure and the failure of the market to obtain a more bullish sentiment in many quarters.

The selling of wheat contracts early in the session and toward the close of the market might have been of greater proportions but for the forecast of a fresh crop complaint.
